BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA
GREATER NEW YORK COUNCILS

Greetings from the Key Leadership

Dear Friend of Scouting,

Your generous friendship and support makes a difference in the lives of 45,614 boys and girls who are growing up throughout the diverse communities of New York City. Scouting is fortunate that you share our concern for young people. In these pages, we outline some of the individual young people who participate in our varied programs, and the difference your support of Scouting makes in their young and impressionable lives. Children Learn by Doing. New York City Scouting provides numerous and innovative ways to reach and serve kids of varied ages, backgrounds and income levels. Thank you for building our capacity to make such an impact.

We are excited to share that 2013 was a year of meaningful change and progress within the Scouting movement. Here in the Big Apple, the Greater New York Councils welcomed Eagle Scout Ethan Draddy as our new Scout Executive / Chief Executive Officer, and we thanked Charlie Rosser for his nine years of service. We have had our fourth consecutive year of membership growth and an additional 600 children attended Scout summer camp.

We are pleased to have completed Phases II and III of our conservation easement to permanently preserve green space at Pouch Scout Camp in Staten Island for the permanent use by our Scouts and Explorers. Many thoughtful and generous friends of Scouting in New York City have eliminated all of our long-term debt and enhanced our financial capacity to better serve the next generation of young people.

Scouting enables children to develop healthy habits, teaching a lifelong appreciation of physical and personal fitness. We actively work to prevent bullying and to instill environmental stewardship and sustainability. We provide multiple opportunities for youth leadership development and STEM education. Your support enables us to reach underserved populations, while preparing young people to successfully transition from school into the workforce.

We look forward to building upon our capacity to have our kids Learn by Doing. We salute our partners and stakeholders, the generous donors and thousands of dedicated volunteers who make a difference. Thank you.

With deep gratitude and appreciation,

Chair

John C. Whitehead

Meet Our Scout Executive

Ethan V. Draddy

Ethan joined us in June 2013, with a proven track record as a Professional Scouter. Most recently, he served as Scout Executive for the Baltimore Area Council. He also served as Scout Executive for the Jersey Shore Council, Toms River, NJ, and Northeastern Pennsylvania Council.

An Eagle Scout with many years of camp experience, he served as the Course Director for the National Camping School. He is an avid runner, competing in eleven marathons. We welcome Ethan, his wife Joann, and two children Taylor Marie and Lara Colleen to the Greater New York Councils.

A Scout Is... Trustworthy, Loyal, & Helpful

TRADITIONAL VOLUNTEER-LED SCOUTING (Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts)

Our volunteer-led Cub Scout program served 4,495 boys in grades one through five, and our Boy Scout Troops served 4,809 boys from sixth grade through age 18. They enjoyed many exciting urban and outdoor adventures this year while learning important life skills and continuing to serve our community:

Brandon Chu, Scout

"Recently, I attended the Big Apple Jamboree at Camp Pouch in Staten Island and this activity was the highlight of my Scouting career! The Jamboree was a three-day long camping trip that had Boy Scouts from all over New York City in attendance, and featured so many fun and exciting things. The best moment was my first ever mountain biking trek with my Troop. It was one of the scariest moments in my life. I learned that if I want to achieve anything, I need to just go for it and not be afraid because even if I end up falling, I have to pick myself up and try again. This is how Scouting is preparing me to fulfill my dreams and prepare me for life".
– Brandon Chu, Troop 96, Forest Hills, Queens, age 13.

A Scout Is... Brandon Chu

Forest Shostak, Scout

"Scouting has helped me become the person I am today. Scouting gives us plenty of opportunities to better our community and ourselves while having a lot of fun! My Troop was very active in the Super Storm Sandy relief efforts, helping to collect food outside our local supermarket and clean-up debris at Floyd Bennett Field and Plum Beach – it felt good to be able to give back to my community and to positively impact the lives of others. It's doing activities like this when I am most proud to be a Boy Scout."
– Forest Shostak, Troop 187, Brooklyn, age 14.

A Scout Is... Forest Shostak

A Scout Is... Friendly, Courteous, & Kind

SCOUTREACH

This Cub-Scouting program is delivered with paid Program Specialist leaders to address the lack of volunteer capacity in low-income neighborhoods. We expanded enrollment by 11% this year, serving 9,204 boys in first through fifth grades from over 40 of New York City's most low-income neighborhood public schools.

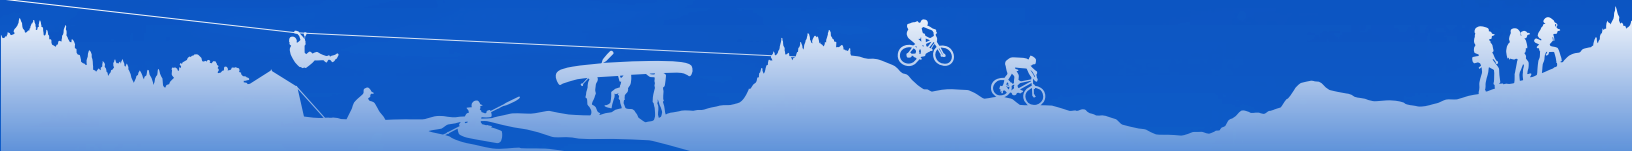

Colby Broaddus, Scout, Explorer

"Scouting, in many ways, helped save me. Growing up in Washington Heights, it is very easy to get involved in the wrong crowd and become a victim to the streets. However, the Scoutreach and Exploring programs helps to keep me focused on positive things and gives me the opportunity to learn new and useful skills – including: CPR, first-aid, swimming, wilderness survival, and how to stop crime in my community. I want to be the boy from Washington Heights that creates change, sets goals, and accomplishes them, and because of Scouting, I can!"
– Colby Broaddus, Troop 748 (Scoutreach), and NYPD Exploring Post 24, Upper West Side, Manhattan, 15 years old.

EXPLORING

This worksite-based career exploration program served 6,755 young men and women ages 14-20 this year, a 15% increase over 2012. The following is an excerpt from a NY 1 story that appeared following the Exploring Academy graduation this past June.

"Very happy, proud," said Santa Ortiz, a mother of one graduate. The graduates were also brimming with pride, as their first steps in a life of law enforcement, or a career that's related, are now behind them.

"I've always wanted to make the streets safe, 'cause a couple years ago I got robbed one time, so that changed my mind," said Explorer graduate Bryan Encarnacion. "I wanted to become an officer, I want to change this."

The Explorers program combines physical and academic training in real-life policing scenarios. "The best part was going upstate for a week at Camp Keowa," said Explorer graduate Fernando Pena. "I did things from rappelling, mountain climbing, obstacle courses. I learned about police scenarios. It was just overall a great experience. Everything was just fantastic equally."

Students can return to the program year-upon-year and add to their skills. Anelin Flete graduated to Explorer Lieutenant after four years. "We started at eight 'o clock in the morning and ended at three-thirty, so I got home probably around four-thirty, so that's like a regular school day for a lot of high school kids," said Flete.. Many Explorers say that after just one year in the program, they get bitten by the policing bug and plan on continuing to participate in Explorers until they finish high school.

OUTDOOR PROGRAMS

Camp Pouch Conservation Easement: We are thrilled to announce that funding for Phases II and III of the Camp Pouch Conservation Easement has been provided by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation under Governor Andrew Cuomo. The agreement with the Trust for Public Land will preserve an additional 50 acres of the property for Staten Islanders to enjoy for generations to come. Special thanks to our Workout Committee members Ted Gamble, Tom Kavalier, Ricky Mason, Deryck Palmer, Jack Williams, and Alair Townsend, for their hard work in making this happen. Funding for the plan also comes from Staten Island Borough President James Molinaro, and Council Members James Oddo and Vincent Ignizio. Please see our favorable press coverage: www.bsa-gnyc.org/pouchpreservation. For more information, contact: Bob.Madsen@Scouting.org.
