Prepared. For Life.™

Greetings from the Key Leadership

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA
GREATER NEW YORK COUNCILS

Dear Friend of Scouting,

Your investment in our Scouting and Exploring programs is an investment in New York City. Thanks to dedicated volunteers and staff who care about youth in NYC, this past year had many highlights of growth and achievement.

2014 marks our fifth year in a row of membership growth in NYC, and we are on our way to fulfilling our vision of serving 50,000 youth. Volunteer leadership is essential, and this year we recruited 22 new Board members. These men and women are helping us connect to alumni and broaden our outreach in underserved neighborhoods. Camping attendance is up, helping us keep kids in Scouting longer. We are especially grateful that we have new significant capital projects in all camp properties to better serve the next generation of Scouts.

Our programs build character in our young people, an investment that is repaid many times as they in turn offer their time, talents, and leadership to strengthen our community. This year, Kenneth Shinozuka, an Eagle Scout from Washington Heights, was recognized by Scientific American for his life-saving device he had developed for Alzheimer's patients. A Bronx Eagle Scout, Jack Dailey, was awarded the Honor Medal with Crossed Palms for saving two neighbors from a fire. And Anthony Vargas, an NYPD Explorer, launched an anti-bullying campaign, speaking at the United Nations and at City Hall. In all, Scouts and Explorers contributed over 250,000 hours of service this year. New York City is a better place when kids have opportunities to be challenged to do more and give back. Thank you for your investment in our Scouts and our city!

With deep gratitude and appreciation,

Co-Chairman

Program Highlights

TRADITIONAL Volunteer-Led SCOUTING (Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts)

Our volunteer-led Cub Scout program served 4,792 boys in grades one through five. Boy Scout Troops served 4,650 boys from sixth grade through age 18. Several local Scouts were lauded for extraordinary service and action “doing a good turn” in our community this year. Our nominee for the 2014 Eagle Scout Project of the Year is Alex Lola, who constructed a mobile Greenhouse on Brooklyn’s Gowanus Canal to grow native plants and raise environmental awareness. Washington Heights Eagle Scout Kenneth Shinozuka won the 2014 Scientific American Science in Action Award for a sensor device he invented to help keep his grandfather and other Alzheimer’s patients safe and warn caregivers when they start to wander. 15 year-old Kenneth was selected as a delegate to represent the 2.5 million youth members of BSA during the 2014 Report to the Nation in Washington, DC in February 2015 and meet President Obama.

“I could not be more proud of our support over the years.”

Peter Sloane, Chairman, Heckscher Foundation for Children, supporter of New York City Scouting and Exploring

“This program teaches boys how to grow and develop into well-rounded men. I am inspired to give back and hopefully become a Scoutmaster one day. Scouting has given a deeper meaning to my life.”

Michael Sorenson, Boy Scout

“Scouting has taught me persistence to do my best in everything I do. I work my hardest to achieve the best grades that I can in school. Scouting has changed my life. It has helped me to become a leader.”

Christine Warne, Sea Scout

SCOUTREACH

This Scouting program is delivered with paid Program Specialist leaders to address the lack of volunteer capacity in disadvantaged neighborhoods. We continued to expand enrollment in Scoutreach, serving 9,292 boys in first through fifth grades from over 52 of New York City’s most low-income neighborhood public schools. We launched an anti-bullying campaign, holding a retreat at Alpine Scout Camp for 600 Bronx school children. This summer, 950 Scoutreach Cub Scouts attended summer camp at Alpine Scout Camp, and 45 Bronx Scouts travelled to Camp Seton Scout Reservation in Connecticut for a day of fishing, scout skills, and outdoor adventures.

“The Boy Scouts of America has taught me honor, loyalty, and discipline. They also taught us how to handle ourselves in emergencies.”

Jahmai Rammcrase, Cub Scout

EXPLORING

This worksite-based career exploration program served 7,134 young men and women ages 14-20 this year. We added many new Exploring posts this year in a variety of industries, including law enforcement, health, and hospitality. Explorers contributed close to 130,000 hours of service in the five boroughs this year, from disaster relief, walk-a-thons, and much more. We congratulate our NYC Explorers for their team competition results at the Law Enforcement National Competition: 12 top five finishes!

"As a DEA Explorer I have helped my community through outreach programs, participated in numerous tactical training sessions, competed in the National Law Enforcement Conference in Atlanta, and have been approved for an internship with the DEA in New York."

Victoria Cirulli, Drug Enforcement Administration Explorer

OUTDOOR PROGRAMS

New capital projects will enhance programs at our three iconic outdoor properties. At Ten Mile River Scout Reservation in Narrowsburg, NY, preparations are underway for the Billy and Keith Johnson Scout Center to be located at Camp Aquehonga, offering enhanced STEM programming and more, with a generous $500,000 gift from New York Jets owner Woody Johnson. Special thanks to the Rudin family as well as Tom and Pat Bain for their ongoing support of improvements at Ten Mile River, including the Camp Keowa Dining Hall and shooting sports program, and our Troop Campsites.

At Alpine Scout Camp in Alpine, NJ, this summer we celebrated the 20th anniversary of the John E. Reeves Cub World, and have received a $600,000 challenge pledge from J.E. Reeves, Jr. toward ongoing improvements here, including the John C. Whitehead Dining Hall, comfort stations, and the Aquatics Center.

We received a $50,000 gift from the Richmond County Savings Foundation to rebuild Beech Cabin at William H. Pouch Scout Camp in Staten Island. We are delighted to report a new partnership with Kaboom! to construct a new playground at Camp Pouch in the coming year.

"Camping was the best experience of my life!"

In Memoriam...

Karl Bernstein, An Eagle Scout, Ten Mile River Camp Staff Member, Karl was a longtime member of our Brooklyn Borough Board, founding member of the Brooklyn Heritage Society, and a recipient of the Silver Beaver Award.

Dr. Leopold Hedbavny, Jr., was a lifelong educator and served in the U.S. Army during the Korean War. He was active in the Boy Scouts for over 70 years, including serving as President and Commissioner of the Queens Council, and was a recipient of the Silver Beaver Award.

Alan ("Ace") C. Greenberg, Vice Chairman Emeritus JP Morgan. Ace was a longtime Board member, Silver Beaver Award recipient, past honoree and Chairman of the Financial Tribute Dinner, and our 2014 "Good Scout" posthumous honoree at our Financial Tribute Dinner. We have created the Alan ("Ace") C. Greenberg Memorial Fund in his honor, to support outdoor adventures for NYC Scouts.

Charles E. Rosser, Retired Scout Executive and CEO, led the Greater New York Councils as our Scout Executive for nine years, retiring in 2013. During his tenure, we had three consecutive years of membership growth, balanced budgets, and growing camp attendance. He had an extensive Scouting career in several Councils across the country.

Remembering John C. Whitehead

By Alair Townsend

I joined the board of the Boy Scouts of New York City. The board then was run by two titans—John McGillicuddy was president, and John Whitehead was chairman. John Whitehead had been president for years prior, and on the board for several decades. The organization was very important to him because he had been a Scout as a boy, earning his Eagle Scout medal in 1937.

Then as now, a boy must earn a fixed number of badges to qualify. John earned that number, and then continued to earn all the rest of the badges then available. That, too, was classic John, giving a job all you've got.

John was involved with scouting for 80 years. He knew what scouting had done for him, and he repaid more than fully so that other boys could share in the camping and character-building activities that Scouting provides. He was a generous benefactor, and called upon his immense web of admirers to do likewise. For many people, if John Whitehead asked, they could not and would not refuse. His name opened doors and he was willing to put his reputation to the service of our organization. And he insisted that scouting should be open and available to all young people and adult volunteers eager to participate.

For his 92nd birthday last year, we surprised him at his office with a group of Scouts bringing cupcakes and singing to him. There were broad smiles all around, as John told the boys about his difficulties in passing the Scout swimming test and the Scouts reveled in the presence of a national hero in the Normandy invasion.

John had a deep sense of service that underpinned everything he did, whether his service in the Navy, his development of 12 principles to guide action at Goldman Sachs, his tenure as deputy secretary of state, or his leadership in countless organizations over the years, including Haverford College, the Brookings Institution, the International Rescue Committee, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the Lower Manhattan Development Corp. and the two organizations in which I have also been involved.

I know no one like him, and doubt I ever will.
