The Ten Mile River Colony on Route 97 was opened by O.E. Vannatta in 1936 then acquired and operated by Nick Dale, Mort Hyman and Cody Barns in the 1940s and early 1950s. It was adjacent to the Ten Mile River. The Colony had wooden cabins and catered to hunters and fishermen in the fall and the parents of Scouts during the summer.

Bob Lander's (today's Lander's River Trips) is a canoe rental firm operating along the Upper Delaware River with long ties to TMR. Their Ten Mile River Lodge, which succeeded the Ten Mile River Colony circa 1955, was very popular with Scouts and staff. Starting in the 1950s, Bob Lander's started producing a variety of "Ten Mile River" patches and neckerchiefs. By agreement with GNYC, these items never included the words "Scout Camp" or a BSA or TMR logo. Bob Lander's items are often mistakenly assumed to be issued by the Ten Mile River Scout Camps.
